

It has everything: a magnificent natural setting, an old town unspoilt by development, and a lively cultural life; yet, perhaps more than anything, it has an atmosphere about it that not even Venice can rival.

The coastline of Dubrovnik is just as beautiful, and dotted with islands. We take you by ferry down the coast to Cavtat, and also to the island of Korcula with its mediaeval fortress. On the way back we come by via Peljesaki peninsula, known for its vineyards and its oysters; of course, we give you an opportunity to try them both.

WE SUGGEST:

Two nights Zagreb, three nights Dubrovnik. Visit the Istrian Peninsula and the Dalmation coast by private yacht. A private guided tour of the Diocletian Palace in Split, truffle hunting in the open-air museum that is Istria, or unwind in luxury in Opatija.
